MRS. RUSSELL TO TAKE CHARGE OF DEMONSTRATIONS

Head of Y. W. C. A. Cafeteria to Aid Woman's Committee in Food Conservation

Mrs. James Russell, head of the Y. W. C. A. cafeteria, who is a graduate of an English domestic science school and whose experience and skill as a dietitian and cook give her an ideal equipment for the work, has consented to assume charge of the economy cooking demonstrations which will be given under the direction of the women's committee of the food conservation.

Mrs. Russell conducted a course in household efficiency at the Y. W. C. A. several months ago, and since early last fall has been cooperating with the U. S. experiment station in developing cooking recipes along the line of food conservation and use of Hawaiian products. She has been engaged in this sort of work for years and is regarded as an expert on avoidance of waste in the kitchen and home generally.

Mrs. A. L. Andrews, in charge of this branch of the women's committee activities, announced this morning that Mrs. Russell has agreed to take hold of the forthcoming course of free demonstrations and lectures, and already is preparing the program. The subjects and dates will be announced within the next day or two.

In these lectures Mrs. Russell will make use not only of the recipes she has developed in her work with the U. S. experiment station, but will introduce a number of recipes which she has received lately from England, where the problem of food saving has become absolutely vital and intensely practical.

It is understood she will emphasize three main points in the present course, which probably will be only the first of several courses in economy cooking. These points are conservation of wheat products, utilization of "leftovers" and use of island-grown vegetables and fruits.

"There should be at least 200 women at every one of these demonstrations," says Mrs. Andrews of the women's committee. "In the first place, they are to be absolutely free; whatever expense is attached to them will be paid for by the food commission. And in the second place, no woman is so clever at cooking that she cannot get new, helpful ideas, especially in the matter of saving food."

"We are hoping that every housewife in Honolulu will plan to attend at least one of these demonstrations, and more if at all possible."

The course will be given in the cafeteria at the Y. W. C. A. Mrs. Russell will give lectures, illustrating them with the practical work, creating the culinary products before the eyes of her classes and passing them out to the women to be sampled and eaten.

N. Y. ATTORNEY FINDS VALUE IN HAWAII RULINGS

Author of Legal Works Says Valuable Discussions in Supreme Court Decisions

Roger Foster, a member of the New York Bar Association and author of "Commentaries on the Constitution of the United States," a treatise of the practice of the courts of the country, and other books, is in Honolulu on a vacation. He is staying at the Moana.

Since his arrival from San Francisco yesterday, Mr. Foster has been charmed by the islands. He says: "I am greatly pleased with the beauty of the vegetation, flowers and trees upon the islands, as well as by the scenery. I have traveled a great deal in the tropics and sub-tropics, especially in Asia and Africa. I have never found a warm climate which seemed to me so healthy and so agreeable. I have long been acquainted with the history of Hawaii. I have admired the patriotism, the courage and the wisdom shown by the Sons of the Missionaries in your revolution. Their documents and proceedings prove that they had studied with care the precedents not only of the American revolution but also of the Puritan commonwealth in England."

"The opinions of your supreme court I have studied with great care; they contain very valuable discussions of doctrines of constitutional law, especially those in relation to the powers of the executive, which may be of great value to our statesmen and jurists when similar questions arise concerning the powers of the president of the United States and the governors of the states of the Union. I am deeply indebted to the decisions of the same court for the discussions of the law in relation to the taxation of incomes, which have been of great value to me in the preparation of my treatise upon income taxes. I have only had one disappointment since I arrived in Honolulu. That is due to the comparatively small proportion of the aborigines in your population, and by what I have heard concerning the disappearance of the native customs, New York has gone crazy over Hawaiian music and dances. From what I have heard here, I believe that you can hear more ukuleles and see more hula hula dances upon Broadway in a single night than you can in the Hawaiian islands throughout a year."

CLUBS ASKED TO GIVE SUPPORT TO FRENCH ORPHANS

Civic and fraternal organizations are urged to contribute to the support of the fatherless children of France, in an appeal which has been issued by Mrs. A. G. Hodgins, who retains on her list of orphans 150 names that have as yet received no support from Honolulu.

"Since the raising of the funds for the support of the first 500 orphans the organizations have come in very slowly," said Mrs. Hodgins this morning. "Of an extra list of 100 names that I have received from New York, about 120 have not been helped by Honolulu."

Individuals and many firms have contributed to the fund, but Mrs. Hodgins says that the organizations have been slow to respond. She says that the fund is now in a critical position and that it is hoped that the organizations will be able to raise the necessary funds within 90 days.

The organizations are now waiting for the recruiting commission, which is expected soon from Vancouver.

Applicants for this service must be British subjects, although those who have taken out first papers are eligible. Both single and married men will be taken. The service is for the duration of the war plus six months unless discharged before. As soon as the recruiting commission arrives and they are accepted, the applicants will be forwarded to Vancouver for the Canadian expeditionary force.

To raise money to supplement the allowances given dependents by the Canadian government a finance committee was formed yesterday composed of E. L. S. Gordon, John Watt, J. L. Cockburn, Frank Halstead, W. G. Hall and J. N. S. Williams. The names of the general committee will be announced later.

NEW POSITION AT QUEEN'S HOSPITAL TO BE CREATED

More Attention to Be Paid in Institution to Practice of Nursing

To add an assistant superintendent of nurses to the staff of teachers of the school for nurses at the Queen's hospital in order that more complete instruction in the theory of nursing may be obtained, is chief among the improvements which Werner Roehl, superintendent of the Queen's hospital, hopes to make with the re-opening of the course next fall.

Previously the work of the nurses had been very practical, as far as actual nursing goes. Physicians of the city have lectured to them in the different lines of medical work, but they have not received much instruction on the theory of the actual nursing work. To this, an assistant superintendent would devote all of her time.

Miss Helen Marfarlane, now superintendent of nurses in place of Mrs. William Moe (nee Miss Agnes Collins), whose resignation was followed by charges against the hospital authorities, will be in charge of the practical work of the nurses in her capacity as superintendent.

Those directing the nursing course are also negotiating with the Kaula children's hospital to provide for a period of three months' training there for those women taking the course. This is required as part of the work.

IRWIN SITE CASE ONCE AGAIN BOBS UP IN U. S. COURT

Respondents Whose Claims Were Disallowed Anxious to Perfect Appeal

Federal Judge Horace W. Vaughn now has under advisement a motion protesting against any further extension of time to Mrs. Theresa Belliveau et al. to file their appeal to a decision of the court holding that they have no title to any of the property in the Irwin site purchased by the government for $200,000 for the new federal building.

Mrs. Belliveau and several other women were among those who filed claims to the land when the condemnation proceedings first came into court. At that time the respondents stipulated that the Irwin site was valued at $200,000, and that, upon the payment of the money into court, the title to the site would be transferred to the government. It was also stipulated that, after these proceedings were completed, the division of the money might be settled among the respondents themselves.

The claims of Mrs. Belliveau et al. were among those disallowed by the court during the condemnation proceedings, the decision having been rendered by former Judge C. F. Clemons. These claimants then gave notice of appeal, but the appeal has not yet been perfected. The protest against a further extension of time was made by the law firm of Freat, Prosser, Anderson and Marx, representing the Irwin Estate company.

WOULD-BE "BAD MEN" TAKEN INTO CUSTODY BY POLICE OFFICERS

A would-be "bad man" inspired by liquor, W. M. Lee, said to be a draftsman in the employ of the government, was taken into custody of starting something with the liquor license squad Tuesday night on Nuuanu and Punch streets.

The squad was in plain clothes, in charge of Jack Roberts, when it encountered Lee. He began cursing and demanding what they wanted. A police officer, who has been in the liquor license squad for some time, was the one who arrested Lee. Lee was taken to the police station and will be tried tomorrow.

Society Suffers in Summer

Possibly there is nothing more annoying to a refined woman than offensive perspiration or body odors. These abominable social pests have been well exemplified in the experience of Dr. M. E. Chartier, Faculte de Paris, France. Dr. Chartier uses a sponge bath made of 1 oz. Tyree's Antiseptic Powder in one gallon of water as preventive and cure. He says he finds the powder to be a deodorizer and stimulant of the skin and an alleviator of pain. Two teaspoonfuls of the pure powder in a pint of water gave him excellent results in a case of Poison Oak after all other remedies had failed. Similar happy effects were obtained from the use of the same strength solution in Eczema.

The tender skin of a child is exceptionally sensitive to heat. Tyree's Antiseptic Powder used either dry, mixed with talcum, or in solution as a sponge bath gives the little one comfort from all such painful affections. The doctor further suggests to social patrons the use of Tyree's Powder instead of poisonous talcums, carbolio acid, peroxide, etc., as it is in every way more agreeable and the remedy accompanying its use are much to be desired now in use.

It is sold in packages at 25c and $1.00 by the manufacturer, J. S. Tyree, Chemist, Inc., Washington, D. C.

HIGHLANDER MILK
The Highest Standard
Sincerely there is nothing in which so high a standard of purity is so necessary as in the household milk supply. Medical authorities have for years preached the fact that ordinary milk is too often a menace—it is laden with disease-bearing germs and responsible for much of the disease of to-day. And yet a perfectly sterile and germ-free supply of the richest, purest (full cream) milk is always available for you direct from the country whose dairy produce—because it is the best in quality—brings the highest prices in the world's markets. The milk used in Highlander Condensed Milk is drawn from cows from the rich pastures of Southland, New Zealand. Infinite care, scrupulous cleanliness, the most modern scientific methods—carefully tested cows from specially selected herds—all these combine to produce Highlander—the Condensed Milk that sets a new standard of quality. Have you tried Highlander?—you owe it to yourself to do so. There's a Free copy of the Highlander Cookery Book awaiting you—nearly 200 beautifully illustrated pages of practical, economical tested recipes.
